Town Election April 10

Voters Face Different Schedule in 1976

Registered voters of Arlington have a different election schedule to look forward to this year.

In the past the annual town election has been held on the first Saturday of March, and on the presidential election years the Presidential Primary has been held in April. However, this year the date of the Presidential Primary is scheduled for Tuesday, March 2.

As a result the state legislature approved a bill which would grant the power to governmental bodies of communities to change the dates of the annual elections.

Arlington Selectmen voted to change the date to Saturday, April 10, the second Saturday in April.

Since the annual election is considered to be the official opening of the town meeting which is generally held on the third Monday of March the date for town meeting was also changed. This year it will start Monday, April 26.

The final day for filing nomination papers for the presidential preference with the Secretary of State, and the day on which the state committee submits lists of suggested candidates was Jan. 2.

Yesterday at 5 p.m. was the last day and hour for filing withdrawals of objections to nomination papers for presidential preference with the Secretary of State.

The final date for residents to register to vote in the Presidential Primary is Feb. 3.

March 1 at 5 p.m. is the last day and hour for town meeting members who are candidates for re-election to give written notice to the Town Clerk.

March 4 at 5 p.m. is the last day and hour for obtaining blank nomination papers. This is 48 week day hours prior to the hour on which nomination papers are required to be submitted to the Registrars of Voters.

March 8 at 5 p.m. is the deadline for submitting nomination papers to the Registrars for certification of signatures.

All nomination papers must be filed with the Town Clerk at 5 p.m. on March 15; the 28th day prior to the annual town election.

March 16 at 5 p.m. is the final day and hour for the filing of withdrawal or objections to nomination papers with the Town Clerk.

The Town Clerk's office will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. March 19 on the final date for registration of voters for the town election.

Candidates for office in Arlington, except town meeting member candidates must have their nomination papers properly signed by at least 50 voters, one percent of the entire vote cast for governor at the preceding state election.

Registrars need not certify a greater number of names than are required to make a nomination, increased by two-fifths or 70.

Candidates for town meeting membership must submit papers properly signed by not less than 10 registered voters of the precinct in which the candidate resides. Registrars need not certify a greater number of names than are required to make a nomination increased by two-fifths or 14.

According to an information and fact sheet put together by the Town Clerk's office blank forms for nomination of candidates for town office shall not be furnished to any person other than a candidate seeking office.

Forms may also be given to persons presenting the signed authorization of a candidate to secure forms on behalf of the candidate.

Each candidate shall file with the Town Clerk prior to obtaining blank nomination papers, a statement containing name and address and the office for which the candidate is running.

No candidate for town office will receive more blank nomination papers than will contain the number of signatures required to place the candidate's name in nomination multiplied by five.

Fund Drive For Church Is Underway

The opening of the Capital Fund Drive to raise the money needed to rebuild the First Parish Church is under way.

The project, entitled "Operation Patriot," was organized by citizens who seek to assist the members of the First Parish Church in their attempt to rebuild this building that was of such great historical significance to Arlington. The church burned in March.

The initial stage of the campaign was initiated last week. Approximately 600 letters were sent out to local citizens, businesses and organizations requesting funds.

Each of these appeal letters will be followed up by members of the Operation Patriot Committee. Pledges are urged but all gifts are totally tax-deductible regardless of the level of giving.

People who have joined together to bring the spire back to the Center of Town are: Francis A. Coughlin, Community Chairman; George P. Faulkner, Special Gifts; Joseph P. Greeley, Foundations; Janet M. Pavilska, Corporate and Business; Harold W. Saul, Fraternal and Civic; Joseph L. Tully, Special Events; Bernard Walsh, Schools.

Also, Robert J. Anness, Barth A. Baron, Norman A. Belden, John J. Bilafar, Charles W. Blackmon, Mark W. Bradford, Rev. Harold Criswell, Drita Eaton, David H. Enrich, George F. Fusco, William J. Grannan, Rabbi Earl A. Grollman, Joan C. Gross, Lincoln Z. Jalelian, George Kaliontzis.

Jacob Katz, Rev. Arthur K. Kontinos, Fr. William T. Kremmell, John M. Lahiff, Msgr. Joseph W. Lyons, Rev. Arthur D. McAskill, Arthur J. McAvoy, John P. Mirak, Hugh J. Mulligan, Arthur D. O'Brien, Philibert L. Pellegrini.

Ann W. Powers, George J. Remmert, John Rossi, Arthur D. Saul, Jr., Margaret H. Spengler, Kermit C. Streng, Robert W. Swanson, Gordon P. Thompson, Allice E. Verney, Robert B. Walsh, Dr. Alfred Yood.

This initial appeal will be followed up by additional mailings as well as special events and a participation project involving school children of Arlington.

At Arlington High

Citizen Involvement Meeting Starts Saturday At 11 A.M.

The entire town is invited to the Citizens' Involvement Committee (CIC) meeting this Saturday at the Arlington High School auditorium.

Starting at 11 a.m., the CIC will present the results of an extensive survey on town attitudes and needs that has been in the works for nearly a year. Highlight of the presentation will be a slide show that presents the results of the survey in a multi-media format.

The slide show will be followed by a free luncheon at 12:30 in conjunction with six discussion groups. Each group will examine in greater detail a different area of the original survey and is intended to elicit response from the townspeople who will be affected.

The first group will discuss "Land Use, Redevelopment, and Physical Environment" and will meet in room 71. The second will cover "The Quality of and Efficiency of Public Services" in room 72.

"Community Identity" will be the topic for the third group, who will meet in room 73. The fourth group will discuss "Town Finances and Taxation" in room 74.

The topic for the fifth group will be "The Need and Responsibility for Social Services" in room 75 while the last group will talk about "Town Government" in room 76.

People can either go to the one discussion that interests them most or rove around, getting an idea of what the CIC is trying to do in all areas. A twenty-page summary of the survey will be available at the meeting.

The CIC hopes to form task forces for each of the discussion topics, made up of at least two dozen residents, businessmen and town officials. The task forces will have staff support from the MIT Department of Urban Studies and Planning.

They will meet every other Tuesday evening throughout the spring to formulate policy recommendations, which will be submitted to the Board of Selectmen, the Town Meeting, the Town Manager and other appropriate boards.

This approach has been chosen to insure legitimate citizen input in questions that are going to concern them vitally in the coming years. It's a chance for the average citizen to make himself heard in the forming of town policies.

After the Saturday discussions, at 2:30 the task forces will make brief reports on the substance of their discussions and the meeting will wrap up.

The CIC is partially funded by the Town of Arlington. $10,000 of Federal revenue sharing funds, already earmarked for human services programs, were given to the CIC program because their survey has been more extensive than anything that the town could have afforded on its own.

The rest of the CIC funding ($30,000) comes from private foundations. MIT has donated the services of Dr. Lawrence Susskind, the CIC staff director, who is an associate professor of urban studies and planning at MIT.

In addition, MIT has donated the time of a number of students, who receive scholastic credit for the work they are doing in Arlington. Students from Boston University and Boston College are also working for the CIC.

The CIC steering committee is made up of Arlington residents. William Grannan of 64 Spy Pond pkwy. is chairman, and the members are: Jeff Begart of 18 Hamilton rd.; Richard Blagden of 34 Hutchinson rd.; and Linda Braun of 11 Parker rd.

Also, Robert Davis, 76 Spy Pond pkwy.; James Forte, 37 Cleveland st.; Tina Meyer, 116 Franklin st.; Alex Moschella, 146 Lake st.; Joan Polakow, 19 Albermarle st.; and Ann Smith of 28 Washington st.

A Holiday Story With A Sad Ending

Over 35 years ago a young women in Baltimore, Md., was given a beautiful birthday present—a sleek red canoe. For more than 20 years she and her husband used the wood and canvas craft in happy times with friends and family in the waters of their native Maryland on the Severn River near Annapolis.

This past Christmas, at the age of 70, the woman handed down the beloved canoe to her daughter, Susan Wheltes of Arlington.

In an emotional farewell to the old family friend, she watched as her daughter and son-in-law Bruce carefully and lovingly tied the canoe to the roof of their old Volvo in Baltimore on New Year's Eve. She waved a fond goodbye as they began the long drive back to Arlington.

Through rain in Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey the Arlington couple drove with their much-loved cargo, talking of the fine times they would have paddling on the waters of the Mystic and Charles this spring.

The canoe whistled and howled in the wind, but it rode well, firmly secured to the roof of the car. Travelers in the other cars would occasionally notice and smile at the long canoe on the short car as they headed north.

By 9:30 p.m. they were safely home, looking forward to the good times they would have with the canoe which was a link between their native Maryland and their adopted town of Arlington, and a link between their parents' youth and their own.

Between 7:39 and 8:30 p.m. on New Year's Day the canoe was cut from more than a dozen lashings on the car roof as it sat in the driveway next to the occupied house. The canoe was stolen and sent crashing to the bottom of Robbins Farm. With its stern smashed and half of its ribs cracked, restoration is questionable.

Tracing the path that the canoe left across the rough ice and frozen snow, the Wheltes followed traces of broken and splintered wood and red paint left as it was ridden down the hill.

To the Wheltes the greatest tragedy is the sense of personal loss. They say that caring people could perhaps understand the emotions that were tied up in the bulky craft which "represented now-vanished health and happiness remembered and was a tangible symbol of transferred hopes and dreams."

The couple does not plan to tell their family about the loss. Themselves sad, angry and bewildered by the senseless destruction, they are offering a reward for information leading to identification of and restitution by the thieves.

An Arbitrator Rules Against The Town Again

The Town of Arlington has lost another arbitration case, this one involving the use of the chief fire officer's aide and driver as a firefighter if a company is short a man.

Town Manager Donald Marquis says of the ruling, "Here's another case where we tried to cut costs and we've been told we can't. Now we will be forced to hire people at overtime costs when heretofore we would have used this individual."

Says the Manager, "This is a bad decision and symbolic of the kind of problem we are faced with every time we try to cut costs and increase productivity."

The case came about when the Director of Community Safety in August issued a notice that aides would man fire suppression equipment when a regular firefighter was absent. In the past the aide did so only when a firefighter had to leave his detail unexpectedly during the last two hours of his shift. Local 1297 took the case to the State Labor Relations Board.

The arbitrator found the practice constituted "a unilateral change of working conditions." He ordered that the town cancel the notice and that the officer's aide not be assigned to firefighting duties for more than two hours except during an emergency.

Cold Day

No one was injured when this car driven by John P. DeFillippo of 31 Lantern In. tipped over on slippery Hutchinson road last Thursday. His mother was a passenger. The fire department responded, with police. A cruiser got stuck on the ice, so Public Works had to come to sand the street and help the cruiser get traction.

DPW Expresses Its Concern Over Cars On Private Ways

Director of Public Works Raymond Ouellette again expressed his concern this week with the conditions along some of Arlington's private ways after the recent severe winter storms.

Ouellette said that the way cars are parked along some of these streets make for very difficult snow clearance by Public Works equipment.

The Director said that unless the snow can be pushed back during the first storms, it is much more difficult to clear snow after later storms and freezes.

He said that in many cases it results in broken equipment as well.

He singled out three areas where he is particularly concerned with cars parked one in the Rockaway lane section, another in the Madison ave., Evergreen section and a third in the Orient ave. sector.

Ouellette said that many of the complaints received during the aftermath of the storm were for cleaning areas in private ways where equipment was unable to navigate because of parked cars during the height of the storms.

Ouellette said that one of the serious problems faced during storms are the number of cars left parked in streets. A total of 30 cars were towed during the double-header northeasters which struck Arlington just before Christmas.

The Director said that it is intended that there be heavy towing in the future.

Article 9, section 12A of the town bylaws gives the Director of Public Works the authority to remove or have removed from town streets any vehicle which obstructs plowing operations.

He said that the department has a great deal of changing of operation to handle during stormy periods such as the one late last month.

recent storm Saturday started to freeze.

He noted that there are some sections of town where it is impossible to control the formation of ice which continually melts and re-freezes and runs down along some hilly sectors. One hundred and thirty-five sand containers have been placed throughout the community to aid residents.

Meanwhile, Public Works crewmen picked up rubbish on Saturdays during the past two weeks to make up for the holidays.

The Director said that over the past weekend Public Works was also called out to numerous water problems and to take care of a sewer pump chamber at Lake Shore dr. and Intervale.

He said that he expected the water problems would continue with the severe freezing continuing into early this week.

Adult Ed. Classes Start Monday

The Adult Education program will resume on Monday. Several new courses will be offered along with the more popular ones of the past.

On Monday evenings a course for Driver Education and Safety and Driver Improvement will be conducted by Lt. Arthur G. Guarente, Traffic and Safety Officer for the Arlington Public Safety Dept. Lt. Guarente has given safety programs in the Arlington School System for the past 15 years, dealing with pedestrian, bicycle and school safety.

His growing concern in the increase of motor vehicle accidents due to the lack of knowledge of change in motor vehicle laws, poor driving techniques, lack of defensive driving and courtesy on the roads prompts the Lieutenant to conduct a course to better inform new drivers preparing for a license and to up-date other operators to enhance their safety.

Lt. Guarente will receive an Instructor's certificate from Driver Education Section, Registry of Motor Vehicles upon completion of a course at Boston State College.

On Wednesday evenings a course designed to teach and review fundamental reading skills will be conducted by Patricia Hannon. Decoding skills (phonics), sight vocabulary and comprehension will be stressed. This course will be geared for adults who have difficulty decoding words or remembering what they have read. It emphasizes an approach that is best for each individual in the classroom.

Registration fee for both of the above courses will be $10. Further information may be obtained by calling the Adult Education office, 646-1000 ext. 169.

A listing of all the new courses to be offered may be found in an advertisement elsewhere in this week's paper.

Red Line Plans Are In Libraries

A chapter on the Red Line extension in the Alewife area has been put in Fox Library for the convenience of East Arlington residents.

The full Red Line Extension Report in two volumes, a review copy of the Draft Environmental Analysis Report, is in the main library.

A final report is expected at the end of this month, to be followed by public hearing on the environmental analysis report and the MBTA Capital Grant Application for extending the Red Line from Harvard Square to Alewife.

Awareness Week

Alcoholism Is Local Problem

by Larry Barton

Alcoholism - a topic which has been whispered about and generally ignored for many years by our society, is coming of age.

People are starting to recognize this serious health problem, and they're trying to find some practical solutions. And in Arlington, a number of local agencies and groups are responding to that call for help.

Barbara Kleeman, an outreach worker for Mount Auburn Hospital in Cambridge, has been working with a number of local organizations in recent months in an attempt to help local people who may have an alcohol problem.

Ms. Kleeman has met with interested physicians and nurses at Symmes Hospital about treating alcoholic patients. She says that many times doctors and nurses are able to detect alcoholism symptoms of patients who are being treated for another problem. She added that by helping doctors and nurses in knowing how to deal with these people, the counseling process can begin.

Ms. Kleeman is planning a four-session program for Symmes Hospital nurses this month on the problem of withdrawal from alcohol as well as what the symptoms are and how detoxification centers can help.

As a recent study by the local Vandalism Committee pointed out, alcohol is a growing problem among Arlington youths with many at the junior high school level reported to be drinking regularly.

Ms. Kleeman has held two three-hour review sessions for counselors at the two junior high schools. The purpose of the program was to acquaint counselors with alcoholism symptoms and to detail how the counselors can assist students in finding help.

She added that there is an alcoholic's anonymous group for teenagers which meets weekly on Wednesday evenings at the St. Paul's Hall in Harvard Square.

Alcoholism problems also handled by the Arlington Youth Consultation Center on Prescott st. where Ms. Kleeman says that groups of young people concerned about drinking meet regularly with counselor Alan Ornstein. The groups attempt to find the causes for regular drinking and how the group can collectively find solutions to the problem.

Anyone aged 18-26 who has an alcohol problem or who wants to talk about drinking is invited to contact Ornstein at the Consultation Center. The groups meet on Thursday evenings.

Ms. Kleeman says that alcoholic problems are most evident in family situations where a parent may be a heavy drinker but does not want to admit it either to himself or his family.

Ms. Kleeman says "there is a stigma attached to having an alcohol problem-families cover up, husbands cover up wives, kids cover up their parents, etc. What this does is retard the process of recovery because everyone is covering up. The drinking person will continue without help.

Alcohol problems in a family situation can have a negative effect for many years on the members of the family, particularly young children who may be brought up believing that there is nothing wrong with heavy drinking.

Ms. Kleeman says that the Arlington Alcoholics Anonymous meets weekly at the First Parish Church in Arlington Center and that the local Alanon group, just for family members concerned about an alcoholic relative, are both helpful in getting to the heart of the drinking problem.

One area of Ms. Kleeman's work that is particularly interesting is with local senior citizens. She recently showed a two-part film on drinking to a group of senior citizens through the Council on Aging, and she says that although attendance was low, the results were encouraging as the senior citizens talked about alcoholism openly in a group discussion.

Ms. Kleeman, who has been hired on a federal grant from the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, says that her job is to work with the communities in the Mystic Valley area and to determine how serious alcoholism is and what kinds of programs can be instituted to meet drinking needs.

She noted some startling figures on alcoholism. For Region 3 of the Mystic Valley which includes Arlington during one month this past summer, there were 333 admissions for alcohol detoxification centers that were state funded. There were also 630 cases of outpatient visits.

This being Alcohol Awareness Week in Massachusetts, Ms. Kleeman urges anyone who is interested in the alcoholism problem to contact any of the groups mentioned.

Meeting Planned For Discussion Of T Extension

Town officials and the local legislative delegation are making plans to meet with the state next week to discuss the proposed MBTA Red Line extension from Harvard sq.

It is now the general feeling that the funds available will only be enough to bring the line to Alewife.

Most of the work has been done in connection with plans for continuation of the line to Arlington Center, but reports indicate that possible extension plans westward are still in need of work.

Local officials must now make a firm decision as to how they feel on the matter.

Originally, Arlington had sought the extension westward to Rte. 128 or not at all.

It was emphasized Monday night that the only way to bring the town's position to the attention of the state is to talk to representatives of the state about the proposed extension.

Judge Modifies Conflict Ruling

An Appeals Court judge has modified the ruling of a Worcester Superior Court judge on a conflict of interest case involving three members of the Clinton School Committee.

The ruling now says that they may not participate in the formulation and adoption of the budgets which relate to the departments in which their relatives are employed.

Three members of the Clinton committee were challenged for participating in action on school budgets since two of them have children who are teachers in the system, and the son of another is a custodian.

The Worcester Superior Court ruled that they were in conflict of interest and could not participate in any school budgets but could be present only to establish a quorum. The committee has five members.

After learning of the ruling, Arlington School Committee member Charles Lyons asked Town Counsel Joseph Purcell for a ruling, since Lyons' mother is a school department secretary.

When he was first elected Lyons was advised by Purcell to remove himself from any discussion of the secretarial budget, which Lyons has done.

Because of the Worcester ruling Lyons was considering resignation from the committee since he might not have been able to participate in any budget talks.

The case is scheduled to be heard by the State Appeals Courts. The interim modification to the Superior Court ruling stands in the meantime.

FISH will refer residents needing longterm help to the proper agencies. To give or receive help call 646-6008.

Happy Days

As we go into a New Year many readers will remember when the football season closed for most teams on Thanksgiving Day, and a few others like Holy Cross and Boston College, and Army and Navy on the Saturday two days later. Then we would wait for the cold weather, so our ponds would freeze, and out would come the skates and hockey sticks, and a new season would be underway. Sad were the skaters when a snow storm would arrive, and happy were the coasters as they came out with their sleds, Flexible Flyers, and Double Runners.

But the puck chasers were a hardy lot, and they would arrive at Hills Pond or Spy, or Symmes Pond, or any body of water nearby, and with shovels a rink would be cleaned. Here is a photo of a fine group of Arlington High School players taken 53 years ago. In the back row, from left to right, was R. Pierce, manager, Elliott Hadley, Eddie Hammond, Jack Foster, and Coach Justin McCarthy. Seated in the front row are Jackie Kenna, Dan Scanlon, Ross Lynch, Hubby Danton and "Tacks" Crosby. All fine athletes, and one must admit, a handsome group.

The Coach was one of the finest hockey players the High School turned out, and he then starred for four years at Mass Aggies in Amherst, and for years played for the BAA against such famous players as "Hobey" Baker, Ramie Skilton and groups that came down from Canada. In 1924 he captained the United States Olympic Team that played in France, and they finished in the runner-up spot to Canada. Nearly all those on the team across the border eventually entered the pro ranks.

However, in those years that sport had the field pretty much to themselves, but today they tumble all over each other with football running into the middle of January, and hockey moving almost into May, with the baseball season underway in April. Then in the summer the football teams are back again, and the TV sets are sometimes being turned from station to station to catch all three, not counting basketball that is packing them in most of the year.

And speaking of the Olympics brings to mind another boy from here that represented us in the Olympic Games in Berlin in 1936, London in 1948, and Finland in 1952, and he is Johnny Kelly, a young fellow that won the B.A.A. Marathon twice in 1935 and 1945.

Well, all you joggers might like to know that come next 19th of April Johnny will be running in his 100th full distance Marathon, which is at least 25 miles, and it will be his 1300th foot race from one mile up. Now 68 and retired on the Cape, he jogs about four miles every morning from 6 a.m. around the countryside before the natives are up and around. And then he spends a part of the day in his studio. He has become quite an artist and sells his paintings, and is doing very well.

With winter with us, and hockey on the way it seems strange to read in the papers the scores of the Spy Ponders. That reporter must be out of the past, or heard his Dad mention the name, as its been many years since our High School team played there, but many readers will remember wonderful years skating, and playing hockey on that beautiful black ice. Many take advantage of this spot today, but the color has vanished with the changing times.

At one time a person could walk all around the pond and skaters entered it from all directions. Sunday was the big day, and thousands from all over would enjoy the outing, taking time only for church and noon day Sunday dinner. Entire families came down to the pond, and with no competition from either Radio or TV it was the place to go, and say hello to your neighbors.

Happy Days.

Housing Job

TO THE EDITOR:

My "HAT" is off to Steve Martin of 10 Oakland ave., for having the courage to speak out in behalf of Joan Gross, who is pursuing the position of Director of the Arlington Housing Authority, formerly held by Bob Hauser.

I can speak from actual experience, as I applied for the position of assisting Mr. Hauser as bookkeeper, before his death. The position required someone with knowledge of and familiar with HUD programs, and as I had previously managed a Luxury Apartment Complex, sponsored by HUD, and owned by one of Arlington's most prominent business men, I felt very confident that I would be considered for the position.

I was assured by Mr. Hauser, after reading my resume, that I was qualified, perhaps the most qualified of all applicants and that my name and application would be brought before the "Board Members" at their next meeting. I later found out that in fact, I was not even mentioned at said meeting, and the position was filled by a School Committee member, and this fact provoked me greatly.

Mrs. Joan Gross, who I am sure is "Her Own Person" and "Straight"—"Good Luck" Arlington needs you.

Respectfully,
Anne J. Lee
34 Joyced Rd.

EDITOR'S NOTE: According to Housing Authority chairman Fred Buckley, there were two positions vacant. A School Committee member, Doris Cremens, was hired as leased housing aide. A former bookkeeper, who had retired, came back to the position of bookkeeper after the person who had suc-

Lost Arts

TO THE EDITOR:

A picture in a recent Arlington Advocate prompts this letter. It showed some Arlington people having trouble with the snow banks at Arlington Center. This writer thinks that sidewalk shoveling in Arlington is truly a lost art.

A recent walk from the reservoir area on Lowell st. to the Mass. ave. Park ave. corner revealed that the only cleared sidewalk area was that which was crossed by a driveway.

And the business area in the Heights could boast only one or two stores where the sidewalks were kept clear. And we should mention that those proprietors who did keep their walks shoveled, found their task much more difficult by having to repeatedly shovel off the slush and ice thrown from the streets by the snow plows.

Just as the sidewalk shovellers could refrain from throwing the snow and ice back into the street, so the snow plow operator could slow down a bit to keep from filling in the sidewalks again and again.

And speaking of lost arts, whatever happened to the policeman, who by his presence on the corner, and by setting a good example himself, would through very little effort have the pedestrians walking when and where they should be walking.

We have all seen the against the light stroller who not only invites an accident, but actually dares the oncoming drivers.

Perhaps the greatest lost art is the art of having consideration for the other person, be he driver or pedestrian.

Fred A. Wilson

Priorities

TO THE EDITOR:

What a big hullabaloo concerning the Center's lack of Christmas lights.

Someone has certainly misplaced their values and priorities. If a few lights are going to invoke one's heart with so-called Christmas spirit, something has to be wrong.

Our businesses are hurting our children's education is hurting and yet all some people can think about is whether or not Arlington is ostentatious enough in their presentation of "Christmas spirit."

It seems to me that this town had better readjust its thinking and start unselfishly thinking of its future. Arlington is getting itself in a hole and it's time we start helping to dig it out.

Cutter Concerns

TO THE EDITOR:

Parents at the Cutter School are very aware of the problems in the Kindergarten classes at the Peirce and the Locke Schools as the conditions at the Cutter School are very similar.

The large enrollment of 27 children in both classes, including a number of non-English speaking children, and many developmental problems, places an undue burden on our Kindergarten teacher. Under such conditions, we feel that it is not possible to achieve the high quality of education that has traditionally existed.

Help has been requested from the administration and we have been patiently waiting for some relief to alleviate this situation.

We, therefore, have sent the following letter to Mr. O'Brien (School Committee Chairman):

Dear Mr. O'Brien:
The parents of children at the Cutter School would like to relay our concerns to the School Committee about the present conditions existing in both of the Kindergarten classes.

We have developed the enclosed petition and request that you present this petition to the members of the School Committee.

If you have any questions pertaining to this matter, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,
Susan M. Rudd

For Cutter School Parents asking them "to help alleviate this situation, perhaps in one of the following ways:

- 1) by hiring an additional Kindergarten teacher to set up an additional classroom
- 2) by hiring an assistant teacher
- 3) by assigning a full-time aide with an early childhood background or by any other measure that the School Committee deems an appropriate solution."

We will be patiently waiting for a reply from the School Committee.

Sincerely,
Susan M. Rudd
31 Temple st.

Persecution

TO THE EDITOR:

Living as we do in a land where religious freedom is taken for granted, it is difficult to realize that there are places in the world where it is denied to certain Christians.

In Malawi, Africa, the most vicious atrocities are being inflicted on a group of Christians. Many thousands have been stripped of their possessions, their homes burned, their families separated and driven from their homeland. Even now they are being tortured, raped, and even violently killed under a reign of terror which rivals that of Hitler's butcherous regime, and that of ancient Rome when Christians were tortured and murdered for their belief.

It is strange that not one word of this has been seen in the newspapers, yet when terrorists kidnap certain victims, it appears on TV and in headlines from coast to coast.

The Awake! magazine of December 8, 1975 a publication of the Watchtower Society, gives a detailed account together identifying the perpetrators and responsible authorities.

The Arlington Heights Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, comprising members from Arlington, Lexington, and Belmont, is shocked and deeply concerned about the treatment meted out to their Christian brothers in Malawi, and feel that it should be made public, so people can know about it.

Jehovah's Christian Witnesses, throughout the world, pay every tax demanded and are law-abiding people, totally undeserving of such inhuman treatment. Let us hope that, by making these vile acts public, the Malawi government may reverse its position and grant religious freedom to all in accord with its own Constitution.

William R. Haxton, Presiding Officer

Thank Department

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like publicly, to commend the Arlington Fire Department for the professional manner in which they responded and acted in the extinguishing of the fire at 25 Water street on December 19, 1975.

Specifically, I refer to: the prompt response, their covering of the furniture in the apartment below the blaze, assistance in rescuing animals, mopping up excess water and sealing windows.

Thank you for a job well done!

Sincerely,
Bradley C. Franckum, Jr.

That Man About Town

This Saturday is the big Citizens' Involvement meeting at Arlington High School starting at 11 a.m.

All residents are invited to come and hear the results of the six surveys that were sent out to townspeople in an attempt to get a picture on what peoples' concerns and priorities are. After a lunch served at the school there will be an opportunity for residents to join discussions of the six areas: land use, redevelopment and physical environment; public services; community identity; town finances and taxation; social services; and town government. The meeting will wrap up at 2:30 p.m.

The Redevelopment Board will hold a special meeting Saturday morning at 10 in the planning office to review a policy statement on the MBTA extension. The department feels that despite Arlington officials' statements that they would accept Red Line extension only through Arlington to Lexington, the facts of life now are that it probably will stop at Alewife unless local people get on the bandwagon and try to convince state officials that it should come further.

Redevelopment Board members will discuss the pros and cons Saturday and determine if they will lead the way in convincing other town officials that the MBTA is too important to Arlington Center development not to have it, even if it ends there. A subway ending at Alewife wouldn't do anything for the town except bring traffic through on the way to Route 2. Planning Director Alan McClennen feels that it's better to have a station in the Center than none at all, because of the development and economic benefits it will bring, as well as making Arlington an attractive residential community. An alternative for improving the transportation from Arlington might be more trains which wouldn't do much to improve the local environment or traffic. A rapid transit through East Arlington would most likely be underground, giving the town a nice start on a linear park and bicycling and walking path.

The Department of Community Affairs expects to name the state appointment to the Arlington Housing Authority to fill the seat vacated by Joan Gross by the end of the week. The tenants' association interviewed the four candidates and recommended Charles Smith.

A new open meeting law for the local, county and state levels of government has gone into effect. In a 1974 study Massachusetts rated seventh from the bottom in effectiveness of its open meeting law. The legislature in its wisdom exempted itself and its committees from the provisions.

The bill for the first time defines "meeting," and sets seven occasions for which a meeting may be closed (see law). Individuals may waive the right to a private discussion involving them. Professional competence of a person is not one of the topics for closed session.

No executive session may be held before a public meeting is convened in open session. A vote must be made in open session to go into executive and the presiding officer must cite the reason for the closed meeting. He must also say whether the public meeting will resume.

One first, with the bill is the provision that meetings may be recorded. The law also requires 48 hours' notice of meeting, with time, date and place posted.

The law applies to meetings when a quorum is present and verbal exchange starts. It does not apply to chance or social meetings, but such meetings should not be used to circumvent the law. If someone questions whether a board properly carried out the law, three residents, a district attorney or the attorney general can bring action. The burden of proof is on the board and members can face action for perjury.

Papers have been taken out by Sam Rotondi, a young lawyer from Winchester, for the state senatorial seat. Rotondi hasn't officially announced yet, but we hear he plans an active campaign in the district which includes Arlington, Winchester, parts of Woburn, Medford and Lexington which John Bullock represents now.

The town lost another arbitration case. It seems that every time the management tries to do anything that a union isn't behind, it goes to arbitration. This time the town wanted to have the chief fire officer's driver and aide be a working firefighter if there was a man short, rather than bringing in an extra person on overtime. As seems to be the case these days, the arbitrator agreed with the union, not the town. It seems harder and harder for management to manage and try to implement any kinds of tax savings.

Town Clerk Christine Callahan has posted the names of over 1000 residents who are not on the voter lists. If you have any doubts about whether you'll be able to vote, check her office.

She also sent out copies of the new open meeting law to town officials, but has not gotten back receipt notices from many.

The Mass. Selectmen's Assn. is urging townspeople to ask their Congressmen to fight for general revenue sharing. According to the association, revenue sharing is in danger, since some Congressmen favor more control in use of funds which will require towns to go through the red tape of applying for grants.

The state association feels that this puts small towns at a disadvantage since they do not have the staff with the time and experience to wade through the process of applying for funding. Loss of revenue sharing would mean higher local taxes or a reduction in local services.

We notice that Jack Cusack has filed some bills which would help Arlington and other towns. These include measures to prevent the state from enacting mandated programs without 100 percent funding or option of local acceptance if funding is not voted. Another bill would reimburse towns for renovation to schools to meet required public safety standards. This last is of interest locally because bringing the high school up to grade will be costly.

Atty. Elizabeth J. Dolan of Arlington gets sworn in at the State House today at 4 at Judge of Nantucket Probate Court. Congratulations and best wishes to her.

Substitute Rates

TO THE EDITOR:

Two years ago, I received a teaching job in another community. I had done substitute teaching in the Arlington Public Schools for two years before I left.

Recently, I was very disappointed at hearing that the salary of the substitute teachers is the same as it was at least 15 years ago. It is the lowest salary paid to any substitute teacher in all of Massachusetts.

It comes as no surprise that it is so difficult for school officials to hire adequate subs when the permanent teacher is out.

I think that after so many years, it is time to see that these substitute teachers receive an increase in salary and then maybe more of the good subs we have had in Arlington will remain here a little while longer.

Sincerely,
A Former Sub

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Arlington and Brookline pay its substitutes $20 a day, the lowest in the area. Westwood substitutes receive the highest salary, $26 a day. After 20 days, Arlington substitutes receive a full-time teacher's pay.

Home Thanks

TO THE EDITOR:

Town Hall Roundup

Four candidates have taken out nomination papers for the annual town election to be held in Arlington April 10.

Edward T. Downey, Jr., 29 Bates rd. took out papers for Selectman as did Robert H. Murray, 73 Beacott st.

William Kenneth Wanamaker, 22 Edmund rd. took out papers for School Committee and Frederick R. Buckley, Jr. 38 Pine st., took out papers for Housing Authority.

Steve Pekich has been elected Chairman of the Redevelopment Board for the coming year with Joseph Tulinieri serving as Vice-Chairman.

The warrant for the annual town meeting was opened by the Board of Selectmen, Monday night at 7:15 p.m. and will close on Jan. 19 at 7:15 p.m. Anyone wishing to submit articles to be acted on must do so before that date.

Selectmen have received an invitation from Governor Dukakis to attend the administration of the oath of office to Elizabeth J. Dolan as Judge of the Nantucket Probate Court on Jan. 8 at 4 p.m. in Doric Hall, State House, Boston.

The Arlington Redevelopment Board has voted to recommend to town meeting the designation of Spring st. from Hillsdale rd. to Bellevue rd. as a Scenic Road because of its exceptional view toward the Boston skyline as well as the number of mature trees that are located within the right of way.

A pair of brown mittens with a gold stripe, apparently lost two or three weeks ago in the garden area between the town hall and the library have been found.

They would seem to belong to a child about four or five years of age. They may be reclaimed at the Town Manager's office.

The cleanup by Arlington Public Works personnel of the two recent snowstorms came in high praise from Selectmen Monday.

Chairman of the Board Margaret Spengler told of the praise for snow clearance she had learned of through discussion around town, and Selectman George Rugg said that he realized what a fine job Arlington had done after traveling through several states to the south of here the week following the storm. A letter of appreciation will be sent to Public Works for the job done.

Selectmen went along with the recommendation of the Town Manager Monday night in the manner in which funds shall be transferred in connection with repairs to the heating system at town hall.

Several weeks ago the Manager had requested the transfer of funds for emergency repairs to the heating system at the town garage.

The funds were granted, but according to Town Manager Donald R. Marquis, the work couldn't wait and the did the work itself at a cost of $6,000.

The $12,000 was transferred from the reserve fund, and normally when an amount is left over, this money goes to the general fund of the town.

The Manager's feelings were that rather than further deplete the reserve fund with a request for $5,100 which is said to be needed for emergency repairs on the town hall heating system, that the Finance Committee be requested to transfer the money from the existing $6,000.

Selectman George Rugg voted in opposition.

An application for a special permit under Article 5, Section 5.04, Use 6.16 of the recently adopted zoning by-law to use and occupy property at 317-321 Broadway by converting the premises to two retail stores, each of which would have a gross floor area of more than 3000 sq. ft. has been unanimously granted by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The permit was granted subject to the condition that deliveries made at night to either store must be at the front of the stores on Broadway so as to not disturb residents of the neighborhood immediately to the rear.

Another condition is that the metal fascia above the windows is not to be used as a backing for the stores' names. It was also noted in the conditions that it will add greatly to the Center's attractiveness if that fascia is removed and another material substituted, and that the substituted material and the sign design will be subject to the approval of the Director of the Department of Planning and Community Development.

The matter relative to the proposed reclassification of the Assistant Town Treasurer has been tabled again by the Board of Selectmen.

Town Treasurer John Bilalfer asked the support of the Board in November for a reclassification but the matter was tabled at that time.

Selectmen are now writing to the Personnel Board seeking their comment on the matter.

It is expected that the Board will make a decision whether or not to support reclassification after hearing from that board.

Selectmen gave Richard Smith a vote of support this week in connection with the continuation of work toward a goal of establishing a sister cities program between Arlington and Nagaoka, Japan.

Smith told Selectmen this week that there seems to be no set pattern as to how to form a sister cities arrangement with other communities in other parts of the world.

There have been exchange visits between residents of Arlington and Japan during the past few years, and they have been very successful.

The proposed sister city concept has grown from these exchange visits.

Classes In Magic To Start Jan. 16

Arlington Recreation will be conducting another session of its Advanced Magic Program beginning Friday, Jan. 16 from 4 to 5:30 p.m. at the Edith Fox Library Function Room.

The class will run for seven weeks, through February 27. The course will include some new and difficult advanced magic tricks that have not been introduced in previous sessions. Children that have taken classes previously will find some new tricks along with some review in the upcoming class.

The program is under the direction of Joseph Carota, a professional magician who has had many years' experience in magic instruction. Classes will be filled on a first come basis. A minimal registration fee will be required. For further information contact the Recreation Office on 33 Ryder st.

MCC Classes

Spring semester begins on February 2 at the Middlesex Community College Extension Centers. Some of the courses will be offered in Arlington. For a course catalog, write, Middlesex Community College, Division of Continuing Education, Springs rd., Bedford.

'Ski Train' Trip

The Old B & M Ski Train will live once more on February 21. The Mystic Valley Railway Society will make a one day revival of the Snowflake Special to Deerfield. For more information, write the railway society at Box 32, Mattapan, MA 02126.

State House Roll Call Reports

THE HOUSE

In a rare New Year's Eve session, the House held the final seven roll calls of the session, for a total of 584. House members overrode five of Governor Dukakis' vetoes, four of which dealt with issuing liquor licenses in the Cape Cod area. The fifth was a veto of a bill which outlaws independent adoptions.

In the only other major action the House gave final approval to a $385 million transportation bill which included $7.5 million for the initial Park Plaza construction.

Liquor Licenses: On separate roll calls of 220-8, 222-8, 218-12 and 215-10 the House easily overrode the governor's vetoes of four bills dealing with awards of excess liquor licenses in the Cape Cod area. The bills allow licensing authorities to issue all alcoholic beverage licenses to a number of private clubs in the area.

Observers say that many House members voted to override the vetoes to show muscle and get even politically with the Governor.

Voting yes on all four bills were Reps.: Campobasso, Cusack and Pickett.

Independent Adoptions: On a 154-77 roll call the House, by one vote, gathered the necessary two-thirds vote to override Governor Dukakis' veto of a bill designed to outlaw independent adoptions. The bill gives control over all state adoptions to 38 licensed agencies. Black market adoptions are said to account for one-third of the state's adoptions. Voting for the bill were Reps.: Campobasso, Cusack and Pickett.

Transportation and Park Plaza: In the last roll call the House passed 168-60 a $385 million transportation bond issue which includes funds for rail acquisition, MBTA expansion and highway building. A key section included $7.5 million for initial Park Plaza construction.

Voting for the measure were Reps.: Campobasso, Cusack and Pickett.

Attendance record: For the week, everyone got 100 percent. For the 584 roll calls during the year, Rep. Campobasso, 94 percent; Rep. Cusack 84 percent; Rep. Pickett, 89 percent.

THE SENATE

On New Year's Eve the Senate held its final nine roll calls, for a year total of 313. It overrode the Governor's veto five times, on Cape liquor licenses and independent adoption.

In two other actions the Senate gave final approval to a $385 million transportation bond issue and refused a motion to discharge a "search and seizure" bill from committee onto the floor of the Senate.

Liquor Licenses: On consecutive votes of 34-0, 35-0, 34-1, and 34-1 the Senate overrode the veto of bills to allow local licensing authorities to issue licenses to private clubs (see House).

Transportation and Park Plaza: On a 20-3 vote the Senate approved the $385 million transportation bond issue Park Plaza, including $7.5 million for Park Plaza.

Independent Adoption: On a 25-11 vote the Senate barely gained the required two-thirds to override the Governor's veto of a bill which outlaws independent adoptions.

Search and Seizure: On a 22-14 vote the Senate refused to approve a motion to discharge a bill from committee onto the floor for a vote. The bill would repeal the 1974 law limiting police search and seizure powers under which police can only search for weapons and for evidence connected with the offense for which a particular arrest has been made.

Attendance: For the week, Sen. Bullock 100 percent. For 313 roll calls during the year, 96 percent.

Hearing Set On Upgrading Waldo, Grove St., Menotomy

Arlington residents are invited to Town Hall on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to participate in the planned upgrading of Menotomy Rocks Park, Wellington Playground (Grove St.) and Waldo Playground.

These three sites comprise the fourth year proposal of the Recreation Facilities Committee Six-Year Capital Improvement program.

Representatives of the architectural firm of Mason and Frey will present the results of their feasibility study for the three areas. This will include renderings based on the landscape architects' preliminary assessment of the sites. This is a critical time for interested citizens to offer suggestions and participate in planning discussion.

It is hoped that residents living in the neighborhood of the Waldo Playground will share their concerns and priorities for this small park which has untapped potential. Menotomy Rocks Park is of town-wide interest and should bring interest to people concerned with the many and varied recreational uses of these 29 acres.

Robbins Library

Is Open Sundays

Residents are invited to spend Sunday afternoons surrounded by the best in music, books, art, Robbins Library, (Arlington Center) is open from 2-5 every Sunday afternoon throughout the months of January, February and March.

A full Sunday staff provides reference services, also.

Wellington Playground is of interest to tennis enthusiasts throughout the town, but it is hoped there will be additional participation on the part of residents interested in play equipment and in the beautification and development of the Mill Brook banks.

Members of the Recreation Facilities Committee will be present to exchange views and recommendations for each site. Committee Chairman, Bernice Jones will conduct the meeting.

Planning Dept. Working On Center

The Redevelopment Board and Planning and Community Development Department are considering plans for upgrading Arlington Center.

Planning Director Alan McClennen feels that both the board and department should be visible participants in what happens in the Center.

He has asked the Building Inspector to direct to the planning department businessmen who come with inquiries about building requirements, so that the planners can work with them in making their plans for locating in Arlington.

McClennen recommends that the board hire consultants for urban design, marketing assistance and traffic assistance, to come up with ideas for the Center and information which will be helpful to all merchants there now.

A model block concept to fix up the block on Broadway where Grants left has already been initiated. McClennen would like to see similar approaches developed for other blocks.

In order not to conflict with what might happen in the Center if the MBTA is extended, McClennen recommends that the next project be in the area of Water Street, since the MBTA station would be in the area of the major intersection of the Center.

McClennen feels that his department should propose and carry out short-term publicly assisted physical changes such as the proposal he had made that the town acquire the property at 13-15 Water Street where there was a house fire.

Another proposal he has made is that the section of Broadway near the fire station be closed for parking and pedestrians.

New street lights, street furniture, plantings, upgrading of some sidewalks are other projects which McClennen feels could be done to show that Arlington Center is changing.

McClennen also favors use of special revenue sharing monies in the land acquisition fund for improvement of properties the town acquires, such as an egress to the railroad parking lot from Water Street and improvement of the Railroad Avenue entrance.

A name and a theme for the revitalization project are also needed. McClennen feels something catchy that explains what the town is trying to do in the Center. In the long term spirit is what McClennen hopes will be achieved, a positive attitude that will do much to improve the Center and lead to a strong business organization.

Family Film Set Friday & Saturday

"Flicks for a Friday Evening," the family film program sponsored by the Robbins Library, will present the feature "Pippi Longstocking" tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. and again on Saturday morning, 10:30 a.m. in the main meeting room of the Edith M. Fox Branch Library, 175 Massachusetts Ave. The showing is open to the public free of charge.

"Pippi Longstocking" is a feature-length children's film which relates the absurd and rolicking adventures of Pippi, the strongest girl in the world. Based on the popular book by Astrid Lindgren. 95 min.

Norman Hurst Is Showing Photos From Arlington

Cambridge photographer Norman Hurst is one of seven artists to display in "Commentary," a show of work in various media being held until January 24 at the Boston Visual Artists' Union Gallery, 3 Center Plaza, Boston. The goal of the show is to exhibit work by Union artists who deal with issues which our society deals with inadequately or prefers to ignore.

In a traditional social documentary vein, Hurst presents the people of Arlington positively. His characters are fully real (high school football players, elderly women having tea), and they are seen with respect and humor amidst the full complications of ordinary small-town existence.

These photographs were originally from a collection developed for the Robbins Library. The purpose of the collection is to portray contemporary Arlington history. Hurst was employed under a grant from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities for this library project.

The End

It's not as much fun from this end of the hill at Robbins Farm. But local youngsters make the climb back up, so that they can enjoy another slide down. (Advocate Staff Photo)

State To Audit Special Ed. Claims

The state will audit Arlington's claim of Chapter 766 Funds for the school year 1973-74. If the state rules Arlington claimed too much, the town could lose hundreds of thousands of dollars over the next few years.

"We feel our claim is valid and justified," says Dr. Jerry Trow, who is in charge of Arlington's special education programs.

Arlington's claim is in question because it was over 50 percent more than the average claim of other communities of Arlington's size. The Department of Education will begin the audit after Feb. 1.

The town has already received the $815,000 claimed for special education in 1973-74. None of this money will have to be returned. But 1973-74 is the "base year" for all claims in the next five years. If the "base year" figure is lowered, Arlington will be more limited on its claims for Chapter 766 Funds.

Before Chapter 766 went into effect in Sept. of 1974, communities received 50 percent of their special education costs back from the state.

Chapter 766 scrapped the 50 percent formula for a new method. Jerry Houghton, Arlington school business officer, thinks the new way is more complicated. "The only person who understands it is Leo Turo," says Houghton. Turo is the director of management services for the State Department of Education.

Arlington's claim in 1973-74 may be higher than normal because the town began hiring more teachers in anticipation of Chapter 766.

Houghton believes the state will accept Arlington's base year figure after the audit is finished. In 1974-75, Arlington spent $1,565,946 on Chapter 766 programs.

The "base year" formula may be thrown out if Arlington can get more money under a second method. Under the second formula, Arlington would be paid for any money it spent on a special education student over the normal per pupil expenditure. The town's Chapter 766 Funds would be limited to a figure based on a complex state-wide average.

Town Counsel Joseph Purcell is looking into legal action the town might take.

Firemen Respond To 27 Ambulance Calls

Arlington firefighters were called on to answer 72 emergency calls during the period ending Monday.

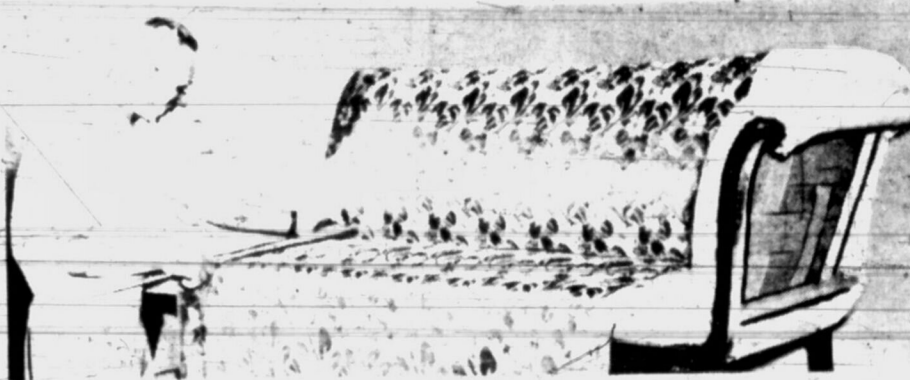

Included were a large number of ambulance calls, 27 in number.

The firefighters also responded to 16 box alarms and two out-of-town mutual aid assignments.

Eight false alarms were reported. Ladder 2 covered at the Winchester headquarters Jan. at 1:48 a.m. and engine 1 covered at the West Medford station on Jan. 5.

College & Center Join In Program For Area Policemen

A credit course for local police officers, criminal justice, and other public service personnel to develop competence in the management of crisis situations is part of the regular curriculum of Middlesex Community College for the spring term beginning in February 1976.

This course has been planned by the college in collaboration with Mystic Valley Mental Health Center professional staff. Dr. Mark Eisenstadt, staff psychiatrist and a member of the Crisis Intervention Team at the Center, will be the instructor. The course will be held on 15 Tuesdays from 9:15-11:45 a.m.

Movies, discussions of first-hand experiences and role playing will be used as well as theoretical material. Emphasis will be placed on examining the possible causes of crisis situations so that the understandings gained from this study can be applied to the management of simulated crises such as the handling of rape victims, destructive groups of adolescents, management of suicidal persons and those needing commitment, and the counseling of families experiencing sudden deaths.

The course catalogue for Middlesex Community College will be available beginning the second week in January for those wishing to enroll in the course for credit. Sgt. Donald Melissi, Chairman of the Criminal Justice and Private Security Department of the Division of Continuing Education at the college, has been collaborating on the content and planning of the course to assure that it is keyed to the kinds of situations actually encountered by police and other public service personnel.

Three course credits can be earned and are applicable to the Law Enforcement Associate degree offered by the college, or can be transferred to other degree programs in which these professionals may already be participating. The course will also be open for audit to those not seeking credits.

Because of the Federal Staffing Grant for expanded Mystic Valley Mental Health Center services, the Center can provide greatly increased community consultation and education, enabling it to collaborate on this course which can therefore be provided at half the regular tuition for police from the five town area. The remaining fee will cover the responsibilities assumed by the college.

Road, Park Plans For Alewife Area To Be Shown 12th

The next meeting of the Alewife Task Force is scheduled for Monday, at 7 p.m., at 54 Rindge avenue extension, Cambridge. Fresh Pond and Alewife Brook Parkway area residents are particularly invited.

The main agenda item for the Jan. 12 meeting will be further discussion of two potential roadway alternatives for the Dewey-Almy Circle intersection area, the "modified-star" and the "minimum-build." The Massachusetts Department of Public Works (MDPW) will present the results of their evaluations, to date, of the two schemes for the Dewey-Almy area.

Included in both alternative roadway schemes are provisions for direct access ramps from Route 2 both inbound and outbound, to an MBTA station and parking garage proposed for Alewife. The direct access ramps to the station complex will allow station and garage bound traffic from Route 2 to avoid passing through the Dewey-Almy interchange for access to the complex.

An aspect of the two design schemes that the group will be focusing on at the Monday night meeting will be the roadway alternatives' compatibility with a linear park concept. The concept calls for connectivity of open spaces in the Alewife area to allow for the potential park development of sections of the Alewife Brook Reservation by the MDC, and possible park development of other open spaces adjacent to the MDC Reservation by their communities themselves.

It is envisioned that some sections of the reservation would be maintained as natural habitat areas in addition to the park development. The Task Force is trying to gain assurance that the roadway alternatives will not produce barriers between the open space areas at Alewife.

Skaters Warned Of Thin Ice Areas Here

Director of Properties and Natural Resources Frank Wright this week urged skaters to stay off rivers and bodies of water where there is any movement or circulation.

He expressed particular concern about staying off waters like the Mystic River. He also noted that sections of the Mystic Lake were still open early this week despite all the cold.

Wright noted that areas which froze just before the heavy snows of the week before Christmas did not freeze too deep because of the deep snow cover which followed.

Wright said that Arlington would have four areas which have skating facilities out of doors.

He said that generally areas aren't flooded until there are from four to six inches of frost in the ground.

He said that Hills Pond has about seven inches of ice and a new lighting system has been installed which gives the area twice as much light as was the case.

The wading pool at the North Union st. playground has been flooded and has been in use for over a week.

This area was reflooded for better skating Monday.

The tennis courts on Eastern ave. have also been flooded and have frozen over, while the tennis courts at Grove st. were flooded for the first time Monday.

There are expected to be approximately six inches of ice at each of these areas unless there is a sudden thaw.

Diet Workshop Sets Open Houses

The Arlington Diet Workshop will hold Open House during the entire week of Jan. 12th at the following locations:

Fidelity House, 25 Medford st., on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.; Park Avenue Congregational Church, Park Avenue & Paul Revere Road, on Monday at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. and Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The Workshop's "Feel Good" program is a new concept in weight control which encourages dieters to take charge of their own eating behavior through the use of a behavior modification program.

Men, women and youngsters will be welcome to attend the Open House in order to learn more about this new program.

The Arlington Spotlight

A pure hat trick is rare in hockey at any level of play.

However, Scott-Jones of the Arlington Menotomy Squirts A-A team recently tallied four goals against Brookline of which three were scored consecutively.

The twenty-first annual football banquet for the Arlington High School football team, sponsored by the Arlington Lodge of Elks, will be held Jan. 25, at the Elks Home, 56 Pond lane. Anyone interested in obtaining tickets is urged to contact Jim Curran, chairman of the committee planning the program.

The Arlington-Menotomy Hockey Club will hold a meeting at the Sons of Italy Hall, Jan. 8, at 8 p.m.

All interested parties are urged to attend to assist the club's operation and to formulate future plans.

The Touchdown Club through the efforts of Al Dolan and Don Jacobson have lined up an interesting evening for the program at the Jan. 8 meeting.

Long-time Boston Red Sox sportscaster Ken Coleman will be the guest speaker for the program.

Deal Caterers continue to roll along in first place in the no-check division of the Arlington-Menotomy Hockey Club.

In 12 weeks of play the leaders have recorded 10 victories. The Green Machine has a 5-2-2 mark and the H. and C. Sabres have a 5-3-2 record.

The Knights have a 1-8-1 mark and the Valiants are 0-8-1.

There has been only one shutout recorded thus far this season. The Deal Caterers have had hat tricks performed 13 times, while the Green Machine has had five, the Sabres three and the Knights two.

In Sunday's action Deal Caterers beat the Valiants 8-1 and the Sabres beat the Knights 6-4.

On the previous week the Machine edged the H. and C. Sabres 6-5 and Deal Caterers beat the Knights 10-2.

On Dec. 21 the Knights and Valiants battled to a 4-4 tie and in a game between the top two teams Deal Caterers defeated the Green Machine 3-1.

Ed Ofria and Tony Messuri each tallied three goals in the Arlington 9-0 victory over Somerville.

Marie Elizabeth Cullinane Weds James F. Gallivan

Marie Elizabeth Cullinane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Cullinane of 125 Brooks ave. became the bride of James Francis Gallivan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Gallivan of Medford on Nov. 8.

Rev. Henry Doherty officiated at the morning ceremony held at St. Agnes Church. A reception at the Arlington Sons of Italy followed.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk organza gown trimmed in Alencon lace with chapel train and matching short veil. She carried a cascade of white carnations, roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Nancy Cullinane of 125 Brooks ave. was maid of honor. She wore a gown of forest green tulle in empire style with matching jacket and trimmed cuffs and carried fall flowers.

Similarly gowned were bridesmaids Carol Cullinane of 125 Brooks ave.; Anna LeVine of Bedford; Carol Robichaud of 128B Varnum st.; Mary Miano of Burlington; and Janice Martin of Cambridge.

Leonard Gallivan of Medford was best man. Ushers were Steve Miano of Burlington, Timothy Smith of Somerville, John Martin of Cambridge, Robert and Richard Cullinane of 125 Brooks ave.

Donna Gallivan of Medford was guest book attendant.

The couple went to Hawaii on their wedding trip. They are now at home in Arlington. Mrs. Gallivan attended Arlington High School and is employed by W.R. Grace & Co. Her fiancé attended Somerville High School and is a plumbing and heating contractor.

Mrs. James Francis Gallivan Jr.

ENGAGED — Carol Louise Matt, granddaughter of Mrs. Frank LoPresti of Central street, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton J. Matt of Pawling, N.Y., is engaged to Paul Holland Zubiell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward and the late Mr. Zubiell of Beverly. Miss Matt is a graduate of Chandler School for Women and a secretary at Gilford Freeman Textile Co. of Boston. Her fiancé served four years in the Air Force and is studying business at Fisher Junior College. He is employed at Smith Carney & Co. of Boston. A May wedding is planned.

Mrs. Richard Milligan

Kathleen Ann O'Donnell And Richard Joseph Milligan Wed

On Nov. 2 in a double ring afternoon ceremony Kathleen Ann O'Donnell, daughter of Anna L. O'Donnell and the late Paul T. O'Donnell of Revere, married Richard Joseph Milligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan of Arlington.

The wedding was at St. Anthony's Church, and Rev. Michael M. Ferraro performed the ceremony. Given in marriage by her brother, the bride wore a gown of white seta-sole, with Cluny lace trim and a high Victorian collar on the sheer yoke of the bodice.

The same lace trimmed the long full sleeves and full skirt which was accented by a double ruffle falling into a chapel train. Cluny lace trimmed the long mantilla veil and the attached matching Juliet cap. She carried pink mini-carnations, red sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

The bride's friend Sheila Watnick was the maid of honor, wearing a satin crepe gown and carrying a side bouquet of elegance carnations and pink sweetheart roses. She wore pink mini-carnations in her hair. Bridesmaids were Loraine and Pamela Losco, cousins of the bride, and Michelyn Scarpito. They wore bright wine colored satin crepe gowns and carried bouquets that contrasted with the maid of honor's and wore flowers in their hair.

Kevin Milligan, the bridegroom's brother, was the best man, while two more brothers, Robert and John, were ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Towne Lyne House in Lynnfield. After a Nassau honeymoon, the couple live in Revere.

The bride graduated from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and is a teacher in Revere, in addition to attending the Boston College Graduate School of Education. The bridegroom graduated from the University of Bridgeport and is a dental student at Boston University.

Tax Postponement
If a house sells for a higher price than the price that was paid for it, there is an income tax due on the profit — unless you take advantage of the government regulations that allow for tax postponement.
To qualify for this postponement, you must buy another house not more than 18 months before or after you have sold. And you must pay at least as much or more for the new house as you got for the old. If you are building a new house instead of buying an existing one, you have 24 months instead of 18 months in which to move into your new home to qualify for this deferral of tax.
Remember, this is a postponement of tax, not an exemption. Eventually, you'll have to pay. However, any tax you can legally postpone is to your advantage, particularly in an inflationary period and to help pay the costs of moving into another home.
If you have any questions on the subject of this column or on any other aspect of real estate, please feel free to call or drop in at MORIAN REAL ESTATE, 1060 Mass. Ave., Phone: 646-4700. We're here to help.
